

5 myths SME owners still believe about cybersecurity.

01

'We're too small to be a target.'

70% of ransomware targets are SMEs. Small means less defended, not less interesting.

02

'We have antivirus, we're covered.'

95% of breaches start with human error. Tools don't click links — people do.

03

'Our people are too smart to fall for it.'

Phishing isn't an intelligence test. It's a timing and pressure test.

04

'A breach would be an IT problem.'

$164K average cost, and 60% of breached SMEs close within 6 months. It's a survival problem.

05

'Training is a yearly checkbox.'

Behavior changes through repetition, not annual events.

Myths are free.
Believing them isn't.

cybercompanion.ae